

Are you a former high school student-athlete who identifies with having a disability or being disabled?

Are you looking to share your story about playing sports in high school?

Want to help high school sports leagues include more student-athletes and inclusive & adaptive sports?

This project opportunity is for you! UIC researcher and Illinois Partners in Policymaking student T.J. Gordon is collecting stories from former student-athletes with disabilities who played sports in U.S. high schools. This project aims to share stories, lessons learned, and insights from former high school student-athletes with disabilities who graduated before or in 2022.

To share your story, visit the following sites or scan the QR codes on the next page.

Sharing Stories of Inclusion
in Illinois
High School Sports

https://go.uic.edu/IHSA_Sports_Inclusion_Story_Series

Sharing Stories of Inclusion
in U.S. High School Sports

https://go.uic.edu/US_HighSchool_Inclusion_Story_Series

